Part V. 주어진 글을 읽고 물음에 가장 알맞은 답을 고르시오. [46-60]

[46-48]

If you were to enter the baby's room in a typical American home today, you would probably see a crib full of stuffed animals and colorful toys dangling directly over the infant. Some of these toys may light up, move, or play music. What do you suppose is the parents' reasoning behind providing infants with so much to see and do? Aside from the fact that babies seem to enjoy and respond positively to these toys, most parents believe that children need a stimulating environment for optimal brain development.

The question of whether certain experiences produce physical changes in the brain has been a topic of research among scientists for centuries. In 1785, Vincenzo Malacarne, (A) $\qquad$ , studied pairs of dogs from the same litter and pairs of birds from the same batches of eggs. For each pair, he would train one participant over a long period of time while the other would be equally cared for but untrained. He discovered later, in his autopsies of the animals, that the brains of the trained animals appeared more complex, with a greater number of folds and fissures. In the 19th century, attempts were made to relate the circumference of the human head with the amount of learning a person had experienced. Although some early findings claimed such a relationship, later research determined that this was not a valid measure of brain development.
46. Which occupation best describes Vincenzo Malacarne in the blank (A)?
(1) a physicist
(2) an anatomist
(3) an optometrist
(4) a biostatistician
47. According to the passage, which of the following is NOT a reason why you would find stuffed animals and colorful toys in a baby's room?
(1) Because babies appear to like them
(2) Because parents believe that babies disregard optimal brain development
(3) Because babies seem to react affirmatively to them
(4) Because parents suppose that babies need stimulating surroundings
48. Which of the following best describes the purpose of writing the above passage?
(1) to introduce a line of scientific research
(2) to advertise a new line of toys for children
(3) to advise parents about the best child-rearing practices
(4) to report a problematic phenomenon in society
[49-52]
The format of the Sun Dance, a traditional Native American ceremonial dance, has always varied from community to community. (A) $\qquad$ there are certain features of the dance that many tribes share. Often, the dance must be initiated by a sponsor, someone who takes a vow in the hope of being relieved of a worry, or being blessed in the coming year. [1] It is almost always performed near the time of summer solstice. Most Sun Dances begin with the erection of a circular lodge around a solemnly chosen and cut central pole. During the next three or four days, periods of dancing, accompanied by singing and drumming, are interspersed with periods of rest and meditation. Dancers do not eat or drink during the entire period of the dance, although some do chew on bear root to keep their mouths moist. Toward the end of the dance, participants experience visions and receive blessings. [2]

Early Europeans were repulsed by some tribes' practice of self-mortification in the ceremony. [3] Dancing and straining against the ropes, they eventually tore loose from the skewers. Through this ritual, participants literally suffer on behalf of their community and call upon the Creator to pity and assist them in the fulfillment of their vows. [4] This aspect of the ritual was the main reason federal officials prohibited it between the late 1870s and 1935. Despite the ban, however, many tribes continued to hold the Sun Dance surreptitiously in remote areas of their reservations or to enact it without its objectionable features.
49. Which of the following is most suitable for the blank (A)?
(1) Therefore
(2) Hence
(3) Nevertheless
(4) Meanwhile
50. Which is the most appropriate place for the sentence below?

Male dancers had their breasts or backs skewered and tied to a central lodge pole.
(1) [1]
(2) [2]
(3) [3]
(4) [4]

(4) experience visions of the tribal future and participants' pity toward the Creator

[53-56]

After traveling 300 million miles through the solar system, NASA's InSight spacecraft descended through the Martian sky and touched down safely on the smooth surface of Elysium Planitia. [1]

Using a robotic arm, the lander will first install a super-sensitive seismometer on the Martian surface, where it will listen for meteorite impacts and Marsquakes. [2] The seismic waves from these events will give scientists a clearer picture of the planet's internal structure. InSight will then release its heat probe, a self-hammering 16-inch nail that will burrow down as deep as 16 feet over the course of several weeks. The instrument will measure how much heat escapes from Mars' interior, which will reveal the amount of heat-producing radioactive elements it contains and how (A) $\qquad$ active the planet is today. [3] The spacecraft also has two X-band antennas on its deck that make up a third instrument, called RISE. [4] Radio signals from RISE will be used to track the wobble of Mars' orbit. This will help researchers understand the size and state of the Martian core. Together, these experiments will crack open Mars and spill the planetary secrets scientists have sought for decades.
53. The author's main purpose in writing this passage is to $\qquad$ -.
discuss Martian internal structure and heat-producing radioactive elements
(2) emphasize the safe landing of InSight on Mars after a long journey
(3) explain the experiments InSight will perform to reveal Mars' secrets
(4) show how the wobble in the rotation of Mars is related to its magnetic field
54. Which is the most appropriate place for the sentence below?

Unlike the space agency's rovers, InSight is a lander designed to study an entire planet from just one spot.
(1) [1]
(2) [2]
(3) [3]
(4) [4]
55. Which of the following is most suitable for the blank (A)?
(1) astronomically
(2) geologically
(3) geometrically
(4) astronautically
56. According to the passage, which of the following is true?
(1) NASA managed to land spacecraft safely on the surface of Mars three times.
(2) The deck of InSight spacecraft has a total of five instruments that can reveal Martian secrets.
(3) The seismic waves will be used in tracking the wobble in the rotation of Mars.
(4) A self-hammering nail will measure the amount of heat coming from the inside of Mars.

[57-60]

Ticked off, peeved, irritated, bothered, annoyed, no matter how you may say it, being angry is an emotion no one enjoys feeling. But (A) $\qquad$ it's completely normal and human to experience anger, problems can come into play when we don't process our feelings in a healthy way. Anger can become a very real, chronic issue, if not handled properly and in a timely manner. You could find yourself blowing up at the smallest things, doing or saying things in the heat of the moment that you later regret.

It may sound silly, but counting to ten (or, if you're really angry, 100) is a great way to immediately relieve some built up tension. Why? Because it focuses your mind on the specific task of taking care of yourself first.

Plenty of things can cause anger but those problems can also be solved if you're willing to meet them head-on. Rather than just blowing up and storming off when your teen misbehaves, your co-worker annoys you or your spouse doesn't see eye-to-eye with you on a certain issue, work on getting to the root of the problem.

Discussing differences in a way that all parties involved feel respected and letting someone you care about know how you feel are things every human being is capable of doing.

57. Which is the most appropriate place for the sentence below?

Here are some healthy ways to process your anger.
(1) Before the 1st paragraph
(2) After the 1st paragraph
(3) After the 2nd paragraph
(4) After the 3rd paragraph
58. Which of the following is most suitable for the blank (A)?
(1) whatever
(2) so
(3) likewise
(4) while
59. What is the best headline for the 3rd paragraph?
(1) Give yourself a time out (2) Address the issue
(3) Hit the gym
(4) Find a way to endure
60. According to the passage, which of the following is true?
(1) Anger will be a chronic issue if it is handled properly.
(2) When your spouse does not see your eyes straight, you may blow up and storm off.
(3) Getting to the root of the problem does not mean that you are capable of being able to let someone you care about know how you feel.
(4) As a human being, you have the ability to discuss differences in a way that all parties concerned feel respected.
